The course will be of interest to trainees, young specialists and researchers, has three main components. The first part will cover theory of endometriosis including its etiopathogenesis, diagnosis, medical and surgical management strategies, intra/postoperative complications, its relationship with infertility, pelvic pain, and follow-up process. The second part provides the opportunity of watching demonstrations of live pelvic ultrasound scan and subsequent extensive live endometriosis surgery performed by internationally renowned experts. Lastly, a hands-on animal-laboratory practice will aim to enhance the participants' surgical skills under supervision of expert trainers. Exercises will include simulation of bowel resection and anastomosis, ureteroneocystostomy and management of major vascular injuries.

We invite you to participate and enhance your knowledge on endometriosis and look forward to seeing you in Istanbul.
